A recreational facility for disabled children, their families, friends and schools

Purpose of Thomley Activity Centre

Thomley Activity Centre was launched in July 2002 by parents of children with autism. These parents found that their children were excluded from other play-schemes due to unavailability of appropriate activities and facilities, as well as their child's considered inappropriate behaviour. These parents also observed the need to cater for the siblings of disabled children as they are often disadvantaged by the fact that attention is focused on the disabled child. In response to their own experiences, they were eager to lessen the feeling of isolation in the challenges of bringing up disabled children.

Programme objectives

Fuelled by their own personal experiences, the founding Trustees established Thomley Activity Centre as a recreational facility for disabled children, their families, friends and schools. Its aim is to achieve the following outcomes.

- To increase self esteem, health, confidence, social and physical skills of disabled children, their siblings and friends through accessible play, recreation and education.
- To provide parents and carers with opportunities to meet others who have disabled children, to lessen their isolation and to increase their ability to support their children through play, recreation and access to information.
- To raise awareness amongst the community, to encourage understanding and acceptance of disability issues, and to increase ability to include disabled children within their own community activities.

Thomley's business plan also clearly defines plans for development and growth i.e.

- Increasing capacities of the Activity Centre to support growing numbers of visitors.
- Extending the Activity Centre's upper age bracket from 16 years up to 19 years, thus helping prepare disabled young people for the transition into adulthood.
- Developing a future Social Programme for disabled adults to: develop skills for independent living; participate in appropriate social and recreational activities; and develop vocational prospects within their own local community.

Description of Thomley Activity Centre

Thomley Activity Centre is the only one of its kind within a 35 mile radius. Set in seven secure acres of countryside, Thomley enables children to learn through freely exploring outdoor play and music equipment, a 1km cycle track, play rooms and a soft play area, sensory room, reading area, art and craft, IT and music activities.

Thomley has become a lifeline to over 1,500 children from almost 700 families who travel from 16 different counties merely to access a facility which understands and meets the needs of disabled children. Thomley received a total of 5,863 visits by children last year, with the majority coming from Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire.
